This urban study, executed for Czech client MCA a.s., is one of the largest development projects in Prague. The site area is 650,000 m2, located in the nature reserve of "Botic - Milícov", in the south of the city. The client required an unconventional solution of mixed use development.

Locked between highway D1 and the contiguous built-up area of panel dwelling sites Opatov, Háje and Petrovice, the area represents a very attractive site that deserves extraordinary care and attention to create residential spaces of a new quality.

The development project of Zelený Újezd is rather distinct in the context of the local residential development industry and hopefully it will become a milestone/precedent for future projects in the area.
